

THE SPOILSMEN

Republican Committee Discusses Appointments.

NO ENDORSEMENT FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Callister Fears Kearns Will Throw Committee Down.

In solemn convocation, held with as much secrecy as though the fate of nations hung in the balance, the Republican state executive committee gathered last night to discuss the question as to where it stands in the matter of patronage. The upshot of it all was the conclusion that the committee can expect only crumbs from the well-filled board of senator Thomas Kearns. It was decided to try to pull F. M. Lyman, Jr., out of the race for surveyor general. If, however, Mr. Lyman insists on staying in, he will get the endorsement of the committee, because Chairman Callister has committed himself to Lyman. Congressman Sutherland attended the meeting, but he didn't have much to say. He was willing to let the committee have a say in the postmaster election and in such other pie as he can get his hands on. This antithesis of the attitude of Senator Kearns pleased the boys mightily, and they voted Sutherland a rousing good fellow.

Many interesting topics were discussed in connection with the patronage question. Chairman Callister stated his belief that Kearns would pay no attention to the state committee in passing out the pie, notwithstanding published intimation to the contrary. "Oh, you're not sure of that, are you?" inquired Arthur Pratt, appealingly. Callister insisted that he was sure, although Thomas hadn't told him so personally.

Telegram from Kearns. By way of corroborating his position, Mr. Callister read a telegram sent by Kearns to E. H. Anderson. It read: "Will you accept position of surveyor general?"

From this point Mr. Callister made an argument. "If Kearns didn't intend to appoint Anderson, why would he have sent him a telegram of that kind, would he?" he said. "A senator isn't sending out messages like that unless he intends to give the recipient the office named."

Mr. Callister thought further that Kearns was trying to work in harmony with three different factions, the Silver King push, the Kearns Benevolent and Protective association and the state committee. In his opinion, he thought he feared the committee would be ground between the upper and the nether millstones.

Joseph A. Smith of Cache figured that the committee ought to know right away whether it was to be entirely overlooked or not. He hardly thought the senator would give an answer, stating that he would recognize the machine and then go back on it. Mr. Smith proposed that the following message be sent the senator to as to put him on record once and for all: "State committee is about to make recommendation for surveyor general. Will you approve?"

This brought out more talk. It also brought out the announcement from Callister that he had received a telegram from surveyor general. "I don't think he's such a very good man," said Mr. Callister, apologetically, "but he's a good party to vote for. He's brightening up some. I don't think he's got much chance to win. Still, I won't consent to the committee endorsing anybody else unless I have a good reason."

Mr. Salisbury thought the committee ought to endorse somebody right away. Judge Wenger favored putting the question to a vote. "I will never present a chance to express his preference. And further, Judge Wenger proposed that the committee declare the vote of the committee to be the unanimous choice of the committee. 'The majority should rule,' the judge concluded.

Pratt Objected. Chief Pratt didn't like this plan. He feared that on a secret ballot Mr. Lyman would be chosen. "I will never under any circumstances vote for Aldrich," said Pratt. "I cannot see how it can be put to support him now or at any time."

"Why, I'd rather vote for Anderson than for Aldrich," Callister chimed in, and the Aldrich men present felt they had better not fight. It was finally decided not to send the Smith telegram and not to recommend any candidate for surveyor general except Lyman, unless Lyman can be persuaded to withdraw. The recommendation of Mr. Callister will go as the recommendation of the entire committee and the general sentiment was that if Lyman is turned down now it will show the committee exactly what tender ground it is standing on.

Callister on Patronage. Callister made another speech then on the general question of patronage. He desired very much to know whether or not the nineteen members of the legislature who would be chosen would be allowed to be controlled by the officers. "There were eighteen other members of the legislature who voted for Kearns," said Callister, "and they are going to be ostracized? Is every Republican in the state who wasn't for Kearns going to be ostracized? That's what I want to know and we have a right to know it."

Judge Wenger now brought up the question of the Idaho patronage. He thought the Utah committee had the distribution of that and so expressed himself. The committee thoughtfully agreed with Judge Wenger, but couldn't figure out any way of getting at it except through the generosity of Senator Kearns.

The last matter before the committee was an agreement that hereafter the body will endorse anybody without seeing the other members of the committee.

Salisbury's Endorsement. "I have only endorsed one man," said Mr. Salisbury, smilingly. When the others looked up inquiringly he said: "That's this negro Taylor, I endorsed him for minister to Liberia. He gave him a letter of recommendation."

From the audible smiles that greeted Mr. Salisbury's announcement it was evident that the committee didn't consider Taylor's chance for the minister'ship overly bright. Other members except Callister said they had given no endorsements. The chairman said Lyman was the only man he had recommended and the expression on his face made it made the statement indicated that if it was all to do over, gain he wouldn't do it at all.

As the meeting broke up it was Mr. Callister who said: "Now we don't want to let the newspapers get a word of this, do we, except possibly the names of those who were here?" There was a general assent and the members dispersed to their several homes.

Nearly every man who was present was asked what had happened in the session. All joined in denying that anything of importance had been discussed. Mr. Callister stated that the committee would endorse Taylor unless he was pulled off and offered to wager a bet that the apostle's son would be appointed unless he did withdraw. This is given merely by way of showing how suddenly politicians change their minds sometimes.

Those who attended the meeting were Congressman Sutherland, E. H. Callister, National Committeeman Salisbury, A. L. Thomas and John C. Graham, by E. H. Callister, proxy, W. F. Adams of Ogden, Joseph A. Smith of Cache and Judge D. H. Wenger.

Friends of Kearns. To a man up a tree it is quite surprising that Senator Kearns isn't falling all over himself trying to do what the committee wants him to do. In view of the valiant work of the members toward the election of Senator Kearns it looks like a case of rank ingratitude on his part.

Everybody knows how hard Mr. Salisbury and Postmaster Thomas labored for Kearns in season and out of season. They hustled for votes and it was largely through their efforts, according to post election stories, that Kearns was made senator. Then there is the case of Pratt. Of course, on the surface, Pratt was friendly to Salisbury, but he was really for Kearns all the time although he didn't say so. The sacrifice ought to be appreciated by the senator, say people who know.

Judge Wenger and John C. Graham spent most of their time during the campaign in Senator Brown's headquarters, but that was because it was a good place to loaf. They were really trying to help Tom all the time and they're glad, so glad, he was elected. Smith of Cache helped Tom, too. He helped him from the Salisbury camp.

Callister says Kearns is his senator. It's quite true, too, that he didn't put any more straw in Tom's way than a four-horse team could pull. Adams of Ogden took no part in the fight what-so-ever. His reports are true, he was really and truly a Kearns man at heart from the beginning.

How is it possible then, the politicians have a say in the postmaster election and in such other pie as he can get his hands on. This antithesis of the attitude of Senator Kearns pleased the boys mightily, and they voted Sutherland a rousing good fellow.

Many interesting topics were discussed in connection with the patronage question. Chairman Callister stated his belief that Kearns would pay no attention to the state committee in passing out the pie, notwithstanding published intimation to the contrary.

"Oh, you're not sure of that, are you?" inquired Arthur Pratt, appealingly. Callister insisted that he was sure, although Thomas hadn't told him so personally.

Telegram from Kearns. By way of corroborating his position, Mr. Callister read a telegram sent by Kearns to E. H. Anderson. It read: "Will you accept position of surveyor general?"

From this point Mr. Callister made an argument. "If Kearns didn't intend to appoint Anderson, why would he have sent him a telegram of that kind, would he?" he said. "A senator isn't sending out messages like that unless he intends to give the recipient the office named."

Mr. Callister thought further that Kearns was trying to work in harmony with three different factions, the Silver King push, the Kearns Benevolent and Protective association and the state committee. In his opinion, he thought he feared the committee would be ground between the upper and the nether millstones.

Joseph A. Smith of Cache figured that the committee ought to know right away whether it was to be entirely overlooked or not. He hardly thought the senator would give an answer, stating that he would recognize the machine and then go back on it. Mr. Smith proposed that the following message be sent the senator to as to put him on record once and for all:

"State committee is about to make recommendation for surveyor general. Will you approve?" This brought out more talk. It also brought out the announcement from Callister that he had received a telegram from surveyor general. "I don't think he's such a very good man," said Mr. Callister, apologetically, "but he's a good party to vote for. He's brightening up some. I don't think he's got much chance to win. Still, I won't consent to the committee endorsing anybody else unless I have a good reason."

Mr. Salisbury thought the committee ought to endorse somebody right away. Judge Wenger favored putting the question to a vote. "I will never present a chance to express his preference. And further, Judge Wenger proposed that the committee declare the vote of the committee to be the unanimous choice of the committee. 'The majority should rule,' the judge concluded.

Pratt Objected. Chief Pratt didn't like this plan. He feared that on a secret ballot Mr. Lyman would be chosen. "I will never under any circumstances vote for Aldrich," said Pratt. "I cannot see how it can be put to support him now or at any time."

"Why, I'd rather vote for Anderson than for Aldrich," Callister chimed in, and the Aldrich men present felt they had better not fight. It was finally decided not to send the Smith telegram and not to recommend any candidate for surveyor general except Lyman, unless Lyman can be persuaded to withdraw. The recommendation of Mr. Callister will go as the recommendation of the entire committee and the general sentiment was that if Lyman is turned down now it will show the committee exactly what tender ground it is standing on.

Callister on Patronage. Callister made another speech then on the general question of patronage. He desired very much to know whether or not the nineteen members of the legislature who would be chosen would be allowed to be controlled by the officers. "There were eighteen other members of the legislature who voted for Kearns," said Callister, "and they are going to be ostracized? Is every Republican in the state who wasn't for Kearns going to be ostracized? That's what I want to know and we have a right to know it."

Judge Wenger now brought up the question of the Idaho patronage. He thought the Utah committee had the distribution of that and so expressed himself. The committee thoughtfully agreed with Judge Wenger, but couldn't figure out any way of getting at it except through the generosity of Senator Kearns.

The last matter before the committee was an agreement that hereafter the body will endorse anybody without seeing the other members of the committee.

Salisbury's Endorsement. "I have only endorsed one man," said Mr. Salisbury, smilingly. When the others looked up inquiringly he said: "That's this negro Taylor, I endorsed him for minister to Liberia. He gave him a letter of recommendation."

From the audible smiles that greeted Mr. Salisbury's announcement it was evident that the committee didn't consider Taylor's chance for the minister'ship overly bright. Other members except Callister said they had given no endorsements. The chairman said Lyman was the only man he had recommended and the expression on his face made it made the statement indicated that if it was all to do over, gain he wouldn't do it at all.

As the meeting broke up it was Mr. Callister who said: "Now we don't want to let the newspapers get a word of this, do we, except possibly the names of those who were here?" There was a general assent and the members dispersed to their several homes.

Nearly every man who was present was asked what had happened in the session. All joined in denying that anything of importance had been discussed. Mr. Callister stated that the committee would endorse Taylor unless he was pulled off and offered to wager a bet that the apostle's son would be appointed unless he did withdraw. This is given merely by way of showing how suddenly politicians change their minds sometimes.

Those who attended the meeting were Congressman Sutherland, E. H. Callister, National Committeeman Salisbury, A. L. Thomas and John C. Graham, by E. H. Callister, proxy, W. F. Adams of Ogden, Joseph A. Smith of Cache and Judge D. H. Wenger.

Friends of Kearns. To a man up a tree it is quite surprising that Senator Kearns isn't falling all over himself trying to do what the committee wants him to do. In view of the valiant work of the members toward the election of Senator Kearns it looks like a case of rank ingratitude on his part.

Everybody knows how hard Mr. Salisbury and Postmaster Thomas labored for Kearns in season and out of season. They hustled for votes and it was largely through their efforts, according to post election stories, that Kearns was made senator. Then there is the case of Pratt. Of course, on the surface, Pratt was friendly to Salisbury, but he was really for Kearns all the time although he didn't say so. The sacrifice ought to be appreciated by the senator, say people who know.

Judge Wenger and John C. Graham spent most of their time during the campaign in Senator Brown's headquarters, but that was because it was a good place to loaf. They were really trying to help Tom all the time and they're glad, so glad, he was elected. Smith of Cache helped Tom, too. He helped him from the Salisbury camp.

THE SALT LAKE HERALD

Charges of Favoritism Made Against the Examiners.

MAY SEND PROTEST TO CONGRESSMAN

General Cannon and Dr. Wright Reply to Charges.

A young tidal wave has sprung out of the naval cadetship. Friends of the defeated candidates have raised a storm against the appointment of R. Leo Irvine, alleging unfairness to a sensational degree, and it is understood the matter will culminate in a protest to Congressman King. Meanwhile the examining board is losing no sleep over the situation. The examiners insist that there was no disposition to favor any candidate, and express themselves indignantly at the imputation of their motives.

Objection is raised by the friends of Burgess Young, who stood first in the examination. They were really trying to help Tom all the time and they're glad, so glad, he was elected. Smith of Cache helped Tom, too. He helped him from the Salisbury camp.

Callister says Kearns is his senator. It's quite true, too, that he didn't put any more straw in Tom's way than a four-horse team could pull. Adams of Ogden took no part in the fight what-so-ever. His reports are true, he was really and truly a Kearns man at heart from the beginning.

How is it possible then, the politicians have a say in the postmaster election and in such other pie as he can get his hands on. This antithesis of the attitude of Senator Kearns pleased the boys mightily, and they voted Sutherland a rousing good fellow.

Many interesting topics were discussed in connection with the patronage question. Chairman Callister stated his belief that Kearns would pay no attention to the state committee in passing out the pie, notwithstanding published intimation to the contrary.

"Oh, you're not sure of that, are you?" inquired Arthur Pratt, appealingly. Callister insisted that he was sure, although Thomas hadn't told him so personally.

Telegram from Kearns. By way of corroborating his position, Mr. Callister read a telegram sent by Kearns to E. H. Anderson. It read: "Will you accept position of surveyor general?"

From this point Mr. Callister made an argument. "If Kearns didn't intend to appoint Anderson, why would he have sent him a telegram of that kind, would he?" he said. "A senator isn't sending out messages like that unless he intends to give the recipient the office named."

Mr. Callister thought further that Kearns was trying to work in harmony with three different factions, the Silver King push, the Kearns Benevolent and Protective association and the state committee. In his opinion, he thought he feared the committee would be ground between the upper and the nether millstones.

Joseph A. Smith of Cache figured that the committee ought to know right away whether it was to be entirely overlooked or not. He hardly thought the senator would give an answer, stating that he would recognize the machine and then go back on it. Mr. Smith proposed that the following message be sent the senator to as to put him on record once and for all:

"State committee is about to make recommendation for surveyor general. Will you approve?" This brought out more talk. It also brought out the announcement from Callister that he had received a telegram from surveyor general. "I don't think he's such a very good man," said Mr. Callister, apologetically, "but he's a good party to vote for. He's brightening up some. I don't think he's got much chance to win. Still, I won't consent to the committee endorsing anybody else unless I have a good reason."

Mr. Salisbury thought the committee ought to endorse somebody right away. Judge Wenger favored putting the question to a vote. "I will never present a chance to express his preference. And further, Judge Wenger proposed that the committee declare the vote of the committee to be the unanimous choice of the committee. 'The majority should rule,' the judge concluded.

Pratt Objected. Chief Pratt didn't like this plan. He feared that on a secret ballot Mr. Lyman would be chosen. "I will never under any circumstances vote for Aldrich," said Pratt. "I cannot see how it can be put to support him now or at any time."

"Why, I'd rather vote for Anderson than for Aldrich," Callister chimed in, and the Aldrich men present felt they had better not fight. It was finally decided not to send the Smith telegram and not to recommend any candidate for surveyor general except Lyman, unless Lyman can be persuaded to withdraw. The recommendation of Mr. Callister will go as the recommendation of the entire committee and the general sentiment was that if Lyman is turned down now it will show the committee exactly what tender ground it is standing on.

Callister on Patronage. Callister made another speech then on the general question of patronage. He desired very much to know whether or not the nineteen members of the legislature who would be chosen would be allowed to be controlled by the officers. "There were eighteen other members of the legislature who voted for Kearns," said Callister, "and they are going to be ostracized? Is every Republican in the state who wasn't for Kearns going to be ostracized? That's what I want to know and we have a right to know it."

Judge Wenger now brought up the question of the Idaho patronage. He thought the Utah committee had the distribution of that and so expressed himself. The committee thoughtfully agreed with Judge Wenger, but couldn't figure out any way of getting at it except through the generosity of Senator Kearns.

The last matter before the committee was an agreement that hereafter the body will endorse anybody without seeing the other members of the committee.

Salisbury's Endorsement. "I have only endorsed one man," said Mr. Salisbury, smilingly. When the others looked up inquiringly he said: "That's this negro Taylor, I endorsed him for minister to Liberia. He gave him a letter of recommendation."

From the audible smiles that greeted Mr. Salisbury's announcement it was evident that the committee didn't consider Taylor's chance for the minister'ship overly bright. Other members except Callister said they had given no endorsements. The chairman said Lyman was the only man he had recommended and the expression on his face made it made the statement indicated that if it was all to do over, gain he wouldn't do it at all.

As the meeting broke up it was Mr. Callister who said: "Now we don't want to let the newspapers get a word of this, do we, except possibly the names of those who were here?" There was a general assent and the members dispersed to their several homes.

Nearly every man who was present was asked what had happened in the session. All joined in denying that anything of importance had been discussed. Mr. Callister stated that the committee would endorse Taylor unless he was pulled off and offered to wager a bet that the apostle's son would be appointed unless he did withdraw. This is given merely by way of showing how suddenly politicians change their minds sometimes.

Those who attended the meeting were Congressman Sutherland, E. H. Callister, National Committeeman Salisbury, A. L. Thomas and John C. Graham, by E. H. Callister, proxy, W. F. Adams of Ogden, Joseph A. Smith of Cache and Judge D. H. Wenger.

Friends of Kearns. To a man up a tree it is quite surprising that Senator Kearns isn't falling all over himself trying to do what the committee wants him to do. In view of the valiant work of the members toward the election of Senator Kearns it looks like a case of rank ingratitude on his part.

Everybody knows how hard Mr. Salisbury and Postmaster Thomas labored for Kearns in season and out of season. They hustled for votes and it was largely through their efforts, according to post election stories, that Kearns was made senator. Then there is the case of Pratt. Of course, on the surface, Pratt was friendly to Salisbury, but he was really for Kearns all the time although he didn't say so. The sacrifice ought to be appreciated by the senator, say people who know.

METEOROLOGICAL REPORT.

Yesterday's Record at the Local Office of the Weather Bureau.

Maximum temperature, 46 degrees; minimum temperature, 35 degrees; mean temperature, 40 degrees. Wind, S. by E. 4 degrees above the normal. Accumulated excess of precipitation since Jan. 1, 1899, 1.35 inches. Total precipitation since Jan. 1, 1899, 1.35 inches. Accumulated excess of precipitation since first of the month, .41 inch. Accumulated excess of precipitation since Jan. 1, .15 inch.

For a Cold in the Head Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets.

IF YOU DIE, YOUR HOME IS FREE.

If you live, a home for less than rent. Built to suit you wherever you want it. Exactly as you want it, carrying out any special ideas you may have. We have some ideas of our own which we will be pleased to give you. Come and see us.

HENRY F. BAKER, Room 301 Templeton Building.

I desire to inform my friends and acquaintances and those desiring my services that I am now located with Mr. S. D. Evans, No. 213 So. State 1st. Funeral Director and Embalmer.

Dr. E. M. Keyser method of filling teeth is painless 162 Main street, Auerbach building.

WM. BROADBENT, D. D. S. Up to date dentist, Western Dental Co., 32 Eagle block.

HELP AND SITUATIONS WANTED. ADVTs. WILL BE ACCEPTED IN THESE COLUMNS FREE OF CHARGE.

BRANCH OFFICES FOR RECEIPT OF WANT ADVERTISEMENTS: SHERWOOD'S PHARMACY, Fifth South and State street. CORNER OF WEST FIRST SOUTH AND FOURTH WEST. MCOT'S PHARMACY, corner Third South and Fifth West. FOLGER BROS. CO., 63 K street. S. S. COULAM, Eighth East and First South. A. DAVIS & CO., corner Seventh South and Seventh East.

DIED. PLANK-In this city, Feb. 22, 1901, M. B. Plank, aged 78 years, 8 months, 1 day. Funeral notice later.

SMITH-At the family residence, corner Seventh and B streets, on Feb. 22, 1901, Mrs. Samaria N. Smith, aged 78 years, 8 months, 1 day. Funeral notice later.

SOCIETIES. TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION No. 115 meets every Monday night at 8 o'clock. A. O. U. W. Hall, 230 P. m. Demand this label on all printing. It stands for fair conditions, union hours and wages. The label is issued by the Herald. Reporter, Century, Tribune Job Printing Co., Salt Lake City.

ARGENTIA LODGE No. 3, F. and A. M. Stated communications held at Masonic hall, first Sunday in month. Members of sister lodges are cordially invited to attend. NEWTON D. ESTES, W. M. W. E. ROBE, Sec. P. O. Box 159.

UTAH CHAPTER No. 1, R. A. M. Stated communications held at Masonic hall, first Sunday in month. Members of sister lodges are cordially invited to attend. WM. J. LYNCH, M. E. H. P. M. C. PHILLIPS, Secretary.

MT. MORRIS LODGE No. 2, F. and A. M. Stated communications held at Masonic hall, first Sunday in month. Members of sister lodges are cordially invited to attend. GEORGE LUCAS, W. M. JOSEPH T. HARRIS, M. E. H. P. M.

SALT LAKE VALLEY LODGE No. 12 meets every Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. A. O. U. W. hall, 161 Main street. GEORGE LUCAS, W. M. JOSEPH T. HARRIS, M. E. H. P. M.

WANTED. TO RENT, the first of March, a five or six room house, with bath, furnished or unfurnished. 177 N. street.

MONEY LOANED on diamonds, watches, jewelry, guns, clothing, etc.; half interest. Uncle Sam, 26 E. 1st South.

MOVED to 30 W. 3d So., cor. W. Temple. IF YOU want to sell your household furniture, carpets, stoves, etc., call at 249 State street, best prices paid. F. E. FIVE.

WANTED-SECOND-HAND FURNITURE. Stoves, tables, etc., at 1st So. Mirrors repaired. 26 State street.

FOR SALE. 500-EGG incubator. Call or address 1649 So. 1st East; take Waterloo car, one block east on York street.

PERFECTLY NEW, 100-h. p. 220-volt, 3-phase Westinghouse motor. 1 Duplex Smith-Vall, 14 by 15 air compressor. 1 1/2 ft. by 12 ft. air receiver. 6 ft. endless double leather belt. Call on 429 Dooly block.

ELEGANT upright piano, standard make, fine, elegant case, 200 lbs. weight, good as new; sold for $350. 715 Octaves, good as new; sold for $150. 715 Temple of Music, 255 State.

OFFICE furniture, fire and burglar proof, desks, bookshelves, carpet, closet, library, table, letter files, mounted clock, head stove battery and electric notes. 15 McCormick block.

MEAT MARKET cheap, if sold at once. 164 W. So. Temple.

RICHARDSON'S Old Reliable Canker medicine cures all kinds of diphtheria. Sold at Z. C. M. I. drug store.

FIRST QUALITY haled alfalfa hay at 45c per 100 lbs. Come and get it. Warehouse cor. Fifth South and Third West.

CHEAP-Second-hand letter press in good order. Apply 22 Herald.

OR TRADE-160 acre stock range 15 miles from city for something near in or city property. Address X. 1 Herald.

STAY, News & Typewriter Supplies. Barrow Bros., 43 W. 2d St. Phone 762-2.

FOR TRADE, 55 acres near Murray, highly improved, for city property. Foster & Garrison, 399 Progress block.

WANTED-HELP.

A GIRL to take care of a baby. Call 26 E. 2d So.

CHARACTER actress and a comedian, John S. Lindsey, 26 E. W. Temple.

A MALE piano player, one who can play right to travel with show. Call at Show Co., 36 E. West Temple street.

A GIRL for cooking and general house work. Apply 670 E. Brigham.

GOOD girl for house work. 275 5th East.

GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEWORK: good wages; no washing. Enquire Mrs. Jennings, 324 West Temple street.

WAGES FOR a middle-aged woman (L. D. S. preferred) to do light housework. Call at 26 W. 3d So.

A LADY TO TRAVEL: $50 (fifty) per month and expenses. Call 69 E. 4th South.

GIRL FOR general housework; no washing; good wages. Apply 323 Second street.

TWO waitresses wanted at Walker House.

LARGE eastern concern wants local ambitious ladies for positions, $25 weekly. Address C. S. Herald.

GIRL WANTED for light house work. Call at 265 W. 3d So. German preferred.

STOCKS. Employment Agency. Successor to the Hetherington Co. C. E. Stock, Proprietor. All kinds of help promptly supplied. 161 South Main, basement. Tel. 464.

FOR RENT. TWO large rooms, summer kitchen, pantry, closets, etc. 335 S. 7th East.

HOUSTONS THE HOUSES. Tel. 753-4 rings.

15 HOUSES, all kinds, prices and locations. Tuttle Bros., 149 Main street.

FOR RENT-FURNISHED. MIDDLE-AGED woman wants work by the day, 23 Kendall court.

PLACE AS housekeeper for a respectable gentleman of good morals, or as nurse for sick lady or child; wages reasonable. Mrs. Desbie Thomas, Salt Lake City, general delivery.

BY FIRST-CLASS engineer and machine drill man, 16 years' experience, practical shaft and tunnel contractor. Address 70 E. 1st South.

LADY PIANIST wants position; no objection to leaving city. Address C. 194 Herald.

A BOY 18 years old wishes work on farm; prefer to go north; mean business. Address, care Herald office, C. 160.

POSITION by experienced lady stenographer. Address 317 W. 1st South.

LADY FROM east desires situation as housekeeper; wages not such an object as a good home. Address C. 162, care Herald.

POSITION as coachman; can give reference. Address C. 163, care Herald.

WISH to work in private family; understand the care of horses and can milk and garden. Address 56 Commercial street, F. Thurman.

A WIDOW wishes day work of any kind; plain sewing is competent nurse. 3 Washington avenue.

BLACKSMITH from Europa Hill mill wants work. W. Golen, 341 West 10th South, City.

AS NURSE GIRL or light housekeeper. 4 W. 1st So.

AS BELL BOY or any work around hotel. 4 W. 1st So.

WORK by the day by man or woman. 74 S. 3d E.

PLAIN SEWING by the day or week. 15 E. Elmo Hotel.

WOMAN wants work by the day. Address 164 S. 2d West.

Some-times

It's a Temptation

To overbuy when such a chance offers, but don't. Get what you need, and keep your eye on our "ads"; there's always something good in them.

This time it is our Lounges.

We have a remarkably fine line beautifully upholstered in velvet, all patterns and colors. A special feature in these is the indestructible springs and metal buttons used in their manufacture, making them exceedingly durable. Prices from $7.50 to $23.50.

H. DINWOODE FURNITURE CO.